

Sustainable Solutions for a changing world ..

Save energy and earn LEED credits with Pentagon International's Window Films

Pentagon International's window film is recognized as one of the most energy efficient products in today's market. Reduce your carbon footprint, increase your sustainability and save money on energy costs with our range of high end energy saving products.

More and more companies are choosing to upgrade their current glazing to meet high standards of energy efficiency without the large cost of refitting the entire glazing. Pentagon International's window films can be applied to existing glass and bring with it the added benefits of high heat rejection, glare reduction and an overall higher performance. This in turn equals a reduction in energy cooling costs and the improvement of the working environment without dramatic change to the building's aesthetics.

Pentagon International's window film is a proven energy saving product that can directly help you achieve LEED credits. Our range of products can be used in up to six categories for new and existing buildings applying for certification. Credits gained from Energy performance, thermal comfort and glare reduction are just some of the areas in which window film can be used to maximise sustainability and help lower a building's carbon footprint.

We also provide a range of Security films which are able to upgrade existing glazing to withstand blast attack, accidental breakage and protect against spontaneous glass failure. Our highly professional team will be happy to provide you with a glazing survey, helping you choose exactly which film is needed to protect your staff, customers and business.

In addition to our window film products, we now offer a line of energy saving LED Lighting. Energy savings are being realized by those companies who have incorporated LED technologies into their corporate infrastructure with a very short payback time due to incredible cost savings. LEDs will not only reduce your electrical load and maintenance costs, but will improve your bottom line in an earth-friendly fashion.

Our products have been installed in 32 countries around the world and we are geared to work with you throughout the Middle East, Australia, India and Asia. To find out more about Pentagon International and our full range of energy saving, solar, security and decorative products please visit our website or call us on 04 881 3177.

Contact Us

Phone: (+971) 4 881 3177
info@pentagon-intl.com
www.pentagon-intl.com